

Good Gardens Deserve Good Photos

Two Tips for Photographing a Garden

Saxon Holt – PhotoBotanic Workshops – PhotoBotanic.com

1 – Avoid bad light. Mid day light has too much contrast.

Early morning or late afternoon light will soften the contrast.

Two Tips for Photographing a Garden

2- Compose with the camera viewfinder and photograph only the elements of the story you want to tell.

Take a moment to study the scene, and compose with only the elements you really need.

More tips and E-books on the PhotoBotanic.com website
info@photobotanic.com

