Welcome

to the 2017 Indianapolis Home Show

INDIANAPOLIS
HOME SHOW

The 10-day Indianapolis Home Show is the nation's oldest and the Midwest's largest home-focused extravaganza, offering the best in home products as well as decorating, construction and remodeling ideas. The show is the largest consumer home event in Indiana. Now in its 95th year, the Indianapolis Home Show has more than 900 exhibit spaces!

Fischer Homes will showcase its Rookwood design as the Centerpiece Home — a fully-constructed, decorated and landscaped home built entirely inside Exposition Hall. And for the first time it is featuring a ranch design rather than a two-story construction.

The Rookwood design features a Coastal Acadian elevation and includes nearly 6,000 square feet of finished living space — the largest home ever built at the Indianapolis Home Show!

Boasting casual yet sophisticated spaces that evoke the feeling of a beachfront home, the Rookwood features a spacious kitchen with adjoining living and dining rooms, a refined study, four bedrooms, 3½ baths and three built-in fireplaces. There is a lower level ideal for entertaining and a walk-out basement.

"We're proud to present this stunning ranch design from Fischer's Grand Estates Custom collection as this year's Centerpiece Home," said Stephen Whaley, corporate marketing manager for Fischer Homes. "This year's Home Show attendees will experience a relaxed and refined home experience with coastal and natural influences inside and outside the home."

TOB Design Firm's Joy Perkins worked with the Fischer Homes team in decorating the Centerpiece Home to showcase options for the home interior.

To bring a feeling of relaxed elegance, Perkins pursued a nautical theme with plenty of blue, soothing colors, shiplap patterns and natural woods and stone throughout the ranch-style house.

Blue leather chairs are set off by navy trim on the walls, with light-colored wood on the floors. A barrel ceiling passage leads to the great room, which melds into the kitchen and breakfast room. There are cedar beams across the shiplap ceiling, and a stone fireplace with ottomans in front and floating cedar shelves on either side. A low-profile sectional is joined by cocktail tables made from reclaimed wood and stone. The kitchen features seagrass blinds, quartz countertops, a navy stovetop hood and 120-inch kitchen bench.

"If I was building a home, I'd choose the Rookwood. That's how much I like it," Perkins said. "The colors are inspired by the sand and the sea, which are natural complements. Each room has its own personality."

For the fourth year in a row, Calvin Landscape is creating an outdoor living space and landscape design for the Centerpiece Home. Owner Jim Calvin and his team have come up with a design that makes maximum use of every square foot of greenery or paving.

"Because this is the first ranch home that's been featured as the Centerpiece Home in a long time, that means we have to accommodate a raised elevation for the finished basement," Calvin said. "Home Show visitors can really see how to maximize the utility and beauty outside a home with a larger footprint."

Out back, a wooden pergola with a roof that tapers toward the sky creates an amphitheater look, set off by columns of stone. A masonry fireplace with wood storage boxes on each side and a stone bench with pillows completes the relaxed look in that section.

Gardens and greenery will grow center stage in the middle of West Pavilion and throughout the entire space for the 2017 Home Show. And as the official florist of the Indianapolis Home Show, McNamara Florist welcomes Home Show attendees with new entryways in all three Home Show buildings, combining home improvement materials with dramatic, colorful hints of spring!

Also in the West Pavilion is a downsized home that is still full of life! With minimal space, tiny homes are maximizing style and function. The tiny house movement has been growing in popularity over the last decade, and the Indianapolis Home Show brings one of these tiny treasures to you.

As a special feature in the South Pavilion, Brighton Village showcases its custom-built garden sheds that are the perfect mix of function and beauty. The Village includes a central pond, fountains and spruce trees with a new camp scene that brings the outdoors to life.

This year's celebrity guests include appearances by Hilary Farr, designer and co-host of "Love It or List It" on HGTV, plus "This Old House" host Kevin O'Connor and Sara Bendrick from DIY Network's "I Hate My Yard," among other local celebrities and features.

Don't miss out on all the Indianapolis Home Show has to offer in 2017!

Fischer Homes Builds Largest Home Ever at the Home Show

The Rookwood is a ranch design with nearly 6,000 sq. ft. of finished living space

For the 2017 Indianapolis Home Show Centerpiece Home, Fischer Homes is going big — but not necessarily high.

Fischer Homes will showcase its Rookwood design as this year's Centerpiece Home, and for the first time it is featuring a ranch design rather than a two-story construction. This year's Home will also showcase a unique feature, never previously built for the show — a walk-out basement.

The Rookwood features a Coastal Acadian elevation with nearly 6,000 square feet of finished living space — the largest home ever built at the Indianapolis Home Show. Home Show visitors will actually ascend a few steps to enter the main level of the house.

Boasting casual yet sophisticated spaces that evoke the feeling of a beachfront home, the Rookwood features a spacious kitchen opening into the adjoining living and dining rooms, a refined study, four bedrooms, 3½ baths and three built-in fireplaces. There is an elegant private owner's sitting retreat along with a lower level ideal for entertaining.

As in recent years, the interior design will be by Joy Perkins of TOB Design Firm, and the exterior landscape by Calvin Landscape of Indianapolis.

“We're proud to present this stunning ranch design from Fischer's Grand Estates Custom collection as this year's Centerpiece Home,” said Stephen Whaley, corporate marketing manager for Fischer Homes. “This year's Home Show attendees will experience a relaxed and refined home experience with coastal and natural influences inside and outside the home.”

“Since we expanded into the Indianapolis market seven years ago, our success and continued growth has raised the standard in quality and customer experience. We're so pleased to again partner with the Home Show on creating an amazing Centerpiece Home for attendees,” said Indianapolis Market President for Fischer Homes Brad Kriner.

“We try to bring something different to the table every year for the Centerpiece Home, and I really think Home Show patrons are going to be delighted by the Rookwood,” said Home Show Manager Laura Groninger. “This will be the largest Centerpiece Home yet, and I know all our guests will be amazed.”

Natural Retreat Inside 2017 Centerpiece Home

Joy Perkins from TOB Design Firm customizes Rookwood Centerpiece Home

To bring a feeling of relaxed elegance to the 2017 Centerpiece Home at the Indianapolis Home Show, interior designer Joy Perkins of TOB Design Firm pursued a nautical theme in keeping with the Rookwood Coastal Acadian design from Fischer Homes. Look for plenty of blue, soothing colors, shiplap patterns and natural woods and stone throughout the ranch-style house with an expansive finished basement.

"If I was building a home, I'd choose the Rookwood. That's how much I like it," Perkins said. "The colors are inspired by the sand and the sea, which are natural complements. Each room has its own personality."

The study just off the main entrance is a little less formal than in previous years, reflecting a space the entire family can use. Blue leather chairs are set off by navy trim on the walls, with light-colored wood on the floors to portray the coastal theme.

In the boy's bedroom, the bunk beds look like bunks inside an old sailing ship with cables and ladder, and more shiplap on the walls. The girl's room resembles a beach cottage with a chest for clothes, hammock chair, pinkish walls and a sunny mural.

A barrel ceiling passage leads to the great room, which melds into the kitchen and breakfast room. There are cedar beams across the shiplap ceiling, and a stone fireplace with ottomans in front and floating cedar shelves on either side. A low-profile sectional is joined by cocktail tables made from reclaimed wood and stone. The kitchen features seagrass blinds, quartz countertops, a navy stovetop hood and 120-inch kitchen bench.

In the master suite, a large space is warmed up with textural details, such as a bed wall in blue and a coffered ceiling with two-tone paint. A light-colored bed is joined by stone-topped nightstands with a grass cloth backdrop. A sitting area features two-toned chaises and a drink cart. The centerpiece of the master bath is a freestanding farmhouse tub. Navy walls and light-colored cabinets complement a herringbone tile pattern in the shower.

The 63-inch round dinner table with bleached wood linen chairs is surrounded by spaced shiplap in the walls of soft gray. Arched cabinets in black metal receive the light of an organic chandelier of frosted teardrop glass.

The finished basement is decorated as "a place for every day," Perkins said. "We're going to make it extremely inviting down there."

T.O.B. DESIGN FIRM

Look for a huge, sexy sectional in vintage whiskey leather, zinc and wood tables and a chevron media cabinet in front of a big-screen TV. The game room features a ping pong table and a show-stopping foosball table made of reclaimed wood and cast iron. The bistro area boasts a stone fireplace, low-maintenance surfaces, floating shelves with anchor cabinets in between and leather bar stools. A conversation pit around the gray stone fireplace utilizes leather and burlap chairs. There's also a wine cellar with the doors taken off so guests can appreciate the beauty of the bottles, and a guest bedroom and bath.

"I just can't wait for Home Show guests to see what Joy Perkins and her team at TOB Design Firm have dreamed up for this year's Centerpiece Home," said Indianapolis Home Show Manager Laura Groninger. "The Rookwood from Fischer Homes is just an amazing vessel for Joy's concept of a welcoming, homey living space that impresses without seeming like it's trying."

Centerpiece Home Outdoors Impresses and Soothes

Outdoor spaces for Centerpiece Home come courtesy of Calvin Landscape

For the fourth year in a row, Calvin Landscape is creating an outdoor living space and landscape design for the Centerpiece Home at the Indianapolis Home Show. To complement the casual sophistication of the Rookwood Coastal Acadian from Fischer Homes, owner Jim Calvin and his team have come up with a design that makes maximum use of every square foot of greenery or paving.

The Rookwood features a Coastal Acadian elevation with nearly 6,000 square feet of finished living space, including a magnificent basement ideal for entertaining. Guests will actually ascend a series of steps and landings to reach the main level of the ranch style Rookwood. The entranceway is courtesy of North Indy Fence Deck and Rail.

"Because this is the first ranch home that's been featured as the Centerpiece Home in a long time, that means we have to accommodate a raised elevation for the finished basement," Calvin said. "So Home Show visitors can really see how to maximize the utility and beauty outside a home with a larger footprint."

Home Show visitors can expect a great deal of variation in colors and textures for the vegetation, with a soft brown tone for the pavers. Out back, a wooden pergola with a roof that tapers toward the sky will create an amphitheater look, set off by columns of stone. A masonry fireplace with wood storage boxes on each side and a stone bench with pillows will complete the relaxed look in that section.

The backyard path will continue around to another distinct outdoor living space, capped with a six-foot fireplace with a water feature surrounding it that includes champagne bubblers. More stone seating and boulders will surround a built-in BBQ grill area with stone countertops and table, topped with another pergola.

"Jim Calvin and his team have come up with one eye-pleasing design after another, so there was no question about bringing them back for the Centerpiece Home again this year," said Indianapolis Home Show Manager Laura Groninger. "We really think the Rookwood is going to be one of the most memorable designs we've ever had — both inside and out."

HGTV Host Hilary Farr Brings International Flair to Her Design

Co-host of “Love It or List It” shows designs both glamorous and functional Hilary Farr is an internationally-renowned designer and co-host of HGTV’s “Love It or List It,” a reality series about homeowners who must decide how far they will go for their dream home.

Homeowners come to the show with a dilemma, usually brought on by the age/disrepair of their home or the expansion of the family and its needs. The dilemma is: do they remodel the existing structure, which Hilary designs, and then “Love It,” or do they take realtor David’s advice and “List It.” The show has become a fan favorite, now in its 13th season.

Credited as the first designer to stage properties for sale in Toronto, where she was born and currently resides, Hilary has also lived in Australia, England, Tehran, New York and Los Angeles.

She was initially interested in pursuing theatre. Her first dabbling with interior design came from helping her mother hunt down unexpected pieces of art and other accessories to decorate her childhood home.

Over time and across many continents, Hilary absorbed all she learned in each of the places she called home and used that international flair in her design.

Farr is also the president of Hilary Farr Design, a thriving interior design company founded more than 15 years ago, established in Toronto and New York.

Much of Farr’s success is attributed to her ability to anticipate industry trends, understand the personalities of her many unique clients, and to respond with distinctive designs that suit their needs and lifestyles. Drama, timeless glamour and functionality are Farr’s trademarks.

“My job is to translate what people love into the reality of a great space.”

Hilary will bring her witty banter and her design trademarks of timeless glamour and functionality to the Home Show on Saturday, January 28.

Kevin O’Connor is Out with the Old, In with the New

Host of “This Old House” gives you new ways to improve your old home

Nominated for an “Outstanding Service Show Host” Emmy Award in his debut season, Kevin O’Connor has been appearing as host of the Emmy Award-winning series, “This Old House,” and the Emmy-nominated series, “Ask This Old House,” since 2003.

He serves on the editorial board of “This Old House”

Magazine, published by This Old House Ventures, Inc. Kevin is also the host of “This New House,” which premiered on the DIY Network in the summer of 2010. In September 2011, Kevin published his first book, “The Best Homes of This Old House.”

Kevin, along with his four brothers and two sisters, grew up on various job sites led by his father, a civil engineer. Years later, he remains an avid home enthusiast.

When Kevin, a lifelong fan of “This Old House,” and his wife Kathleen became overwhelmed by their long to-do list, they sent an email seeking help from the “Ask This Old House” experts. To their surprise and delight, the “House” call acted as Kevin’s first screen test to serve as the new host (the third host in the history of the pioneer home improvement series).

Kevin received his Bachelor of Arts in history from the College of the Holy Cross in 1990 and a Master of Business Administration from Boston University in 1999. Most recently, Kevin worked for Bank of America as a senior vice president in the Commercial Real Estate Group and before that in the Sports Finance Group at Fleet Bank.

Originally from New Jersey, Kevin lives with his wife and three children in a home north of Boston.

Kevin appears at the Home Show on Friday, Jan. 20 and Saturday, Jan. 21! He will offer a behind-the-scenes view of the current season of “This Old House.” Kevin talks about how the show is made and answers all your home improvement questions!

Hate Your Yard? Talk to Landscape Designer Sara Bendrick

Host of DIY Network's "I Hate My Yard" tackles tough backyards

Born and raised in San Diego, Sara Bendrick started at a young age with a passion for art, nature and an appreciation for anything living.

When she was young, she would sew doll clothes out of old T-shirts, draw, paint, and dig in the dirt. Her life has been about trial and error, figuring out things as she goes.

Sara studied at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and received her Bachelor of Science in landscape architecture. As a college student, she got her hands dirty in the field working different landscaping gigs, including being a forewoman for a landscape maintenance company.

After college, she honed her residential design skills by working for a design/build firm and eventually started her own landscape design business.

Sara loves to combine nature with a built environment to create a sense of place. She has always been interested in horticulture and art, and designing landscapes allows her to combine both of her passions.

As a landscape designer with a passion for being involved with her projects, hosting the DIY Network's "I Hate My Yard" was a perfect fit for Sara. She comes to the rescue of people who love their homes but hate their yards, working with homeowners to create the outdoor living spaces they've always dreamed of.

With a DIY attitude, Sara and her crew tackle tough backyards with the help of the homeowners to keep the budget in check. She guides homeowners through the renovation process by tasking them with fun, creative and aesthetically pleasing projects to take the backyard once and for all!

Sara will help Home Show attendees realize the opportunity of their exterior spaces when she appears at the Home Show on Tuesday, Jan. 24 and Wednesday, Jan. 25.

Experience More Sights and Sounds of Brighton Village

Brighton Developments feature brings the outdoors to life with new camp scene

Brighton Developments returns to the Indianapolis Home Show for an encore presentation of its popular Brighton Village!

www.BrightonDevelopments.org

The Village showcases uniquely-styled garden sheds, pergolas, landscaping and water features. And new this year is a camp scene that brings the outdoors to life, offering the opportunity for Home Show attendees to experience a fun-filled and relaxing connection to nature.

Designed for a person's specific needs, the custom garden sheds are the perfect mix of function and beauty. They offer architectural styling that becomes an enhancement to the backyard landscape.

The garden sheds showcase the versatility and craftsmanship Brighton Developments produces in all areas of operation the company serves, including residential design and construction as well as ornamental spruce trees and landscaping.

In addition to the garden sheds, Brighton Village incorporates Brighton Bridge, along with a central pond with fountains and flumes as well as different varieties of spruce trees and landscaping designs.

"Take the scenic pathways through Brighton Village, and Home Show attendees are invited to enjoy the environment and experience the sights and sounds at their leisure," said Craig Brighton. "Browse through the pergola and garden sheds for treasures of locally-crafted items for sale. We hope to expand the Brighton Village from last year's show with added elements providing a rich outdoor experience for all who visit the Indianapolis Home Show."

Brighton Developments, LLC is a custom design and build company specializing in residential architectural design and construction. Located in Gosport, Ind., Brighton Developments has served the Indianapolis and southwest central Indiana areas since 1990.

New this year! Brighton Village is located near the Unilock Outdoor Living Stage in the South Pavilion. Come visit the Village when you attend the Home Show, and enjoy an adventure for your senses!

Unplugged Houses Shows How to Travel Big in a Tiny Home

Indiana's premier tiny home company changes how you get off the grid

Imagine packing up for the weekend, heading out to your favorite vacation spot and still being able to sleep in your own bed.

This year, Unplugged Houses is bringing its flagship product — the tiny home — to the Indianapolis Home Show to give attendees a glimpse of a new lifestyle making its way across the nation.

“We see tiny homes used as vacation homes, hunting lodges and off-the-grid homes,” said Brady Whitesel of Unplugged Houses. “In effect, a tiny home can become the ultimate getaway, offering its owner the ability to live comfortably in a location that might have not been easily accessible for a traditional cabin or vacation home.”

Whitesel is enthusiastic about the opportunities a tiny home offers home owners.

“Imagine escaping to a little home in the woods where you can literally unplug from your busy digital day, or retreat to a creative studio nestled in your backyard.”

Unplugged Houses builds beautiful custom tiny homes crafted with quality materials and traditional home construction techniques. Built on a trailer, home owners have the freedom to escape, travel, or downsize and upgrade.

The tiny homes range from 12 to 24 feet in length, and are all eight feet wide. The maximum height is 13 feet six inches, required by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Unplugged Houses are built to last, portable and ready to hit the road — making it easy to move from one location to another. It's also a great alternative to traditional guest houses and recreational vehicles.

“They can be fully customized and used for a variety of different uses — a guest house, in-law suite or even college lodging.” Whitesel said. “The market for tiny homes ranges from college-age students wishing to have a place to call their own to retired couples looking to downsize.”

Come be a part of the tiny home movement making its way into the Midwest! The tiny home from Unplugged Houses will be in the middle of the West Pavilion.

Gardens and Greenery Grow Center Stage

McNamara Florist welcomes visitors to the Home Show with dramatic entrances

Designed and constructed by the area's top landscape professionals, the feature gardens at the Home Show highlight ways to incorporate your greenery with water features, furniture and more.

And Home Show Landscape Coordinator Bill Brown of William H. Brown Landscape Inc. in Zionsville never knows what to expect — in a good way.

“We never know what we are going to see until it appears. But it's always a different look from the year before, allowing landscapers to use their imaginations and bring new creative ideas,” Brown said.

The greenery will grow center stage in the middle of the West Pavilion and throughout the entire space for the 2017 Home Show.

As the official florist of the Indianapolis Home Show, McNamara Florist welcomes Home Show attendees with dramatic entryways to set the tone for an exciting show.

“Expect to see creative uses of home improvement materials and equipment like ladders, scaffolds, paint cans and tools mixed with an abundance of colorful flowering and green plants combined in creative ways so they add a burst of color and life to the show entrance areas,” said McNamara Florist President and CEO Toomie Farris.

McNamara Florist incorporates home improvement materials into the framework for all three Home Show entrances at Exposition Hall, West Pavilion and South Pavilion as well as throughout the Home Show space in all three buildings.

“Hints of spring will greet you with daffodils, tulips, fragrant hyacinths and so much more,” Farris said. “McNamara

Designer Room Showcase Spotlights Local Designers

Four local designers bring imagination to unique looks throughout the home

Local designers get the chance to invent and create different looks throughout the home in this year's new Designer Room Showcase!

Liz Henderson, Sara Davis, Angela Lerew and Junkey Monkeys at Salvage Sisters Diana Colquitt and Lisa Inderhees show off their personal touches as they design and decorate various rooms — each designer working on a different room in the home.

Liz Henderson will create a bedroom look; Sara Davis will work on a dining room; Angela Lerew tackles the living room; and the Junkey Monkeys get crafty with a craft room.

With a passion for decorating and a love for people, Liz enjoys inspiring women to spruce up their spaces here in the Midwest. She and her husband bought their foreclosed home on HGTV's "House Hunters," shared their room updates on HGTV's "House Hunters: Where Are They Now?" and renovated their basement on DIY Network's "Renovation Realities."

Junkey Monkeys at Salvage Sisters Show How to Re-tique

Friends works to reuse, re-tique and refurbish vintage treasures

It began as two friends spending weekends exploring antique, vintage and architectural salvage shops as a hobby.

Eventually, that hobby evolved into a small business whimsically named Junkey Monkeys.

The Junkey Monkeys — Diana Colquitt and Lisa Inderhees — are also neighbors and coworkers. And they are always in search of items that can be re-loved, re-used and re-vamped. That includes looking through barns, attics, estate sales, garage sales and even burn piles.

You can find the Junkey Monkeys at Salvage Sisters Antique Shop located in Franklin, Ind., as well as in various vintage markets around Indiana and bordering states.

As part of this year's Designer Room Showcase at the Home Show, the Junkey Monkeys will get crafty designing and decorating a craft room.

They will show off how they work to reuse, re-tique and refurbish vintage treasures for your home.

Find them on Facebook at: @junkeymonkeys.

See the Junkey Monkeys at Salvage Sisters when they appear at the Home Show on Saturday, Jan. 21 and Sunday, Jan. 22, and learn how to give new life to your old furniture, art and other collectibles.

DIY Blogger Sara Davis Creates “Sincerely, Sara D.”

Learn to create a pretty space without a lot of money with Sara Davis

Sara Davis is the DIY home décor blogger behind “Sincerely, Sara D.” Sara believes she was created to create and loves sharing her work in hopes of inspiring others through her trial and error. In her DIY project tutorials, Sara shows anyone can create a beautiful space with little cost and effort while giving others the confidence to create!

Before “Sincerely, Sara D.,” Davis worked as an art director in the greeting card industry and then as a stay-at-home mom. Needing a creative outlet and a little sanity from three young kids, she painted. The walls in Sara’s home were her canvas and home décor her passion. She was determined to create a beautiful space without breaking the bank.

In 2013, Sara began documenting her creative efforts at SincerelySaraD.com. Many of her projects center around paint, and there is (almost) nothing she hasn’t painted.

From walls to faucets and floors to fabrics, she frequently illustrates how paint has the power to make a large impact and transform a space.

Davis and her husband Steve live in Pendleton, Ind., with their three children, Bryant, Benson and Lena. Sara’s work has been published in “Design Mom: How to Live with Kids,” a book by Gabrielle Stanley, and numerous magazines including “Make It Organized.” Her highly anticipated e-book, “Painting Furniture,” is set to be released in January 2016.

When not blogging or driving children to and from sports and school events, she teaches classes, consults with home décor clients and encourages others to create.

Join Sara Davis in her DIY home décor endeavors. Don’t miss her when she appears at the Home Show on Thursday, Jan. 26 and Friday, Jan. 27!

DIY Blogger Angela Lerew Brings Improvisation to Home Decor

Angela dishes on affordable interior design, creating “Unexpected Elegance”

Angela Lerew wants you to know it doesn’t have to cost a lot to have the home you love. All you need is a little bit of improvisation.

Her innovative, do-it-yourself tutorials have been featured on “Elle Décor,” “Apartment Therapy,” “Good Housekeeping” and HGTV.com.

Lerew developed a passion for interior design at a young age and never lost sight of it. In college, she spent two summers abroad in Europe. It didn’t take long for her to be wooed by the history and architecture of the places she visited.

Those trips were part of the inspiration that pushed Angela to pursue her dreams and accomplish her goals.

After graduating from Texas A&M, Angela married her best friend, Scott. They lived in Texas and Pennsylvania for a while, and then in 2008, a job opportunity brought the couple to Indianapolis. They have two lovely daughters.

A lack of finances can restrict the flow of ideas for many designers. Angela believes the opposite. Financial restrictions necessitate improvisation, and improvisation often leads to the best ideas. Just ask Scott.

Angela hopes she can inspire Home Show attendees to find new ways of using unique items to make your home something you are proud to share!

Learn more about Angela on her blog at <http://unexpectedelegance.com/>.

Learn the ABCs of Growing Vegetables with Carol Michel

Blogger and lifelong gardener offers seeds of wisdom for veggie growing

How does your garden grow? Gardener and blogger Carol Michel has the answers.

Carol Michel is a lifelong gardener with a degree in horticulture from Purdue University and a passion for all things gardening. She currently writes for "Indiana Gardening" and regularly posts on her own garden blog, www.maydreamsgardens.com.

An award-winning writer, she considers herself a gardenangelist — an evangelist for gardening.

She is an avid reader and collector of old gardening books and claims to have the largest hoe collection in the world!

Her hoe collection is as real as her passion for plants and her ability to relate almost everything in life to gardening.

Her speaking engagements feature topics ranging from vegetable gardening to garden blogging. She draws inspiration and humor from gardening books, old hoes, and her own adventures in and out of her garden.

The recipient of the 2015 Garden Writers Association Silver Award of Achievement for Blog Writing and the 2015 Garden Writers Association Silver Award of Achieve for e-Newsletter Article, Carol spreads the love of gardening wherever she goes.

Dig in with Carol Michel when she explores the topics of how to incorporate vegetables throughout your garden and the ABCs of vegetable gardening at the Home Show on Monday, Jan. 23 and Tuesday, Jan. 24.

Find Balance in Life and the Kitchen with Basilmomma

Heather Tallman shares culinary tips and what she's learned along the way

Heather Tallman, also known as Basilmomma, is an Indianapolis-based food personality and family meal advocate, food writer, blogger, newspaper columnist and freelance writer.

She cooks because she truly enjoys it — researching the perfect recipe, tweaking it to be her own and making magic on the LG.

“I do enjoy the happiness that a tall stack of pancakes or a dish of steaming hot enchiladas brings my two boys, Noah and Jacob,” she said. “Nigella Lawson once said, when asked what she thought of a particular dish on Iron Chef, that if the food brings her pleasure to eat, then it is good.”

In addition to recipe development and creating food and family travel-based content for her website, Basilmomma.com, Tallman also appears locally on Indianapolis TV and radio stations, sharing the message of family meals and quick-and-easy recipes.

Heather is a food blogger for www.EarthEats.com as well as the host of the Earth Eats test kitchen on The Friday Zone on WTIU/WFYI public TV, preparing healthy snacks any school-aged child can make after school. She teaches a variety of cooking classes for local schools, clubs and the Little Red Door Cancer Agency.

Follow Heather online at: @Basilmomma on Twitter and Facebook and @BasilmommaHT on Instagram.

Food is Heather's passion, but so is writing about her adventures in the kitchen and surviving a busy family life. Using the knowledge she has learned in her own family's kitchen in southern Johnson County, Tallman entertains her listeners with her tried and true family feeding tips.

Basilmomma Heather Tallman shares with Home Show attendees that fast, healthy and family-friendly food is easier to pull off than you might think! She appears at the Home Show on Saturday, Jan. 28 and Sunday, Jan. 29.

Queen of Free Cherie Lowe Holds Court on How to Simplify Your Life and Your Budget

Savings expert shares freebies and strategies for everyday savings

Cherie Lowe has long been addicted to getting something for nothing. And in 2008, she adopted the alter ego, the Queen of Free. Since then, she has been confidently wearing a plastic crown and encouraging others to dream big dreams.

As the Queen of Free, Cherie shares freebies, strategies for everyday savings and inspiration to those pursuing a debt-free life.

Together with her husband Brian, Cherie paid off $127,482.30 in a little under four years. She scribed the ups and downs of their “debt slaying journey” on her popular website, www.QueenOfFree.net. Now they are officially debt free.

A graduate of Asbury University, Cherie strongly believes something can come from nothing, and there is always a way for her fans to simplify their lives and their budgets.

More than anything, through speaking and the written word, Cherie longs for others to know there is hope for getting their finances under control.

Cherie and Brian — the King of Free — live in Greenwood with their daughters, Anna and Zoe. Her family's story has appeared in national publications like The Wall Street Journal, Yahoo Finance, Redbook Magazine, AOL Daily Finance, NBC News and more.

Cherie has also appeared locally as a savings expert on Channel 13 WTHR-TV in Indianapolis, and has blogged for Doing Indy with ways to save when you visit The Circle City.

Cherie's book, “Slaying the Debt Dragon,” was released in January 2015 and documents her family journey and “how one family conquered their money monster and found an inspired happily ever after.”

Queen of Free Cherie Lowe shares how you can fight your financial foes, one bill at a time, when she appears at the Home Show on Sunday, Jan. 29.

Unilock Craft Beer Corner Taps into Rustic Feel

Head to the South Pavilion for a variety of craft beers and domestics

The craft beer craze continues to flow in Indiana, and the Indianapolis Home Show taps into that with the Unilock Craft Beer Corner.

Designed by William H. Brown Landscaping Inc., the beer garden offers a variety of craft as well as domestic beers along with ideas and inspiration for lovers of landscaping.

Robb Lester and his company Bedrock Hardscapes lead the installation of the beer corner and the landscaping, using recycled materials and combining wood and iron elements for a rustic feel. Bedrock specializes in hardscape and landscape design and installation.

“This year’s craft beer corner offers Home Show attendees the chance to enjoy landscaping and hardscaping as well as the process of repurposing old items into usable tables and chairs,” said Bill Brown of William H. Brown Landscaping Inc. in Zionsville.

Repurposed furniture and home décor gives items a “decorative yet functional look,” Brown said.

Home Show attendees can enjoy a variety of craft beers and domestics as well as the lush scenery — a feast for the eyes and the taste buds.

The Unilock Craft Beer Corner is in the South Pavilion, along with the Unilock Outdoor Living Stage. This is where the show’s celebrity guests will speak about ideas and innovations in the home and gardening world.

Get a Taste of Something New in the Wine Garden

Brower/Jacques Design creates an upscale European experience

When you step into the 2017 Indianapolis Home Show, you also have the chance to step into another country by way of the Home Show’s Wine Garden feature.

This year, the Wine Garden allows visitors to “be transported to the open-air plazas of various metropolitan cities such as Milan and Paris,” said Cheryl Jacques, president of Brower/Jacques Design.

Brower/Jacques Design is a Greenfield-based company specializing in custom outdoor spaces. With a bachelor’s degree from Purdue University and a master’s degree from Harvard, Jacques pays special attention to personal lifestyle and how each outdoor space can be unique to each person.

Home Show attendees get a taste of something new in the Wine Garden, located at the front of the West Pavilion.

When they step into the garden, they feel as though they are entering an upscale European dining experience nestled in a landscape architect’s beautiful creation.

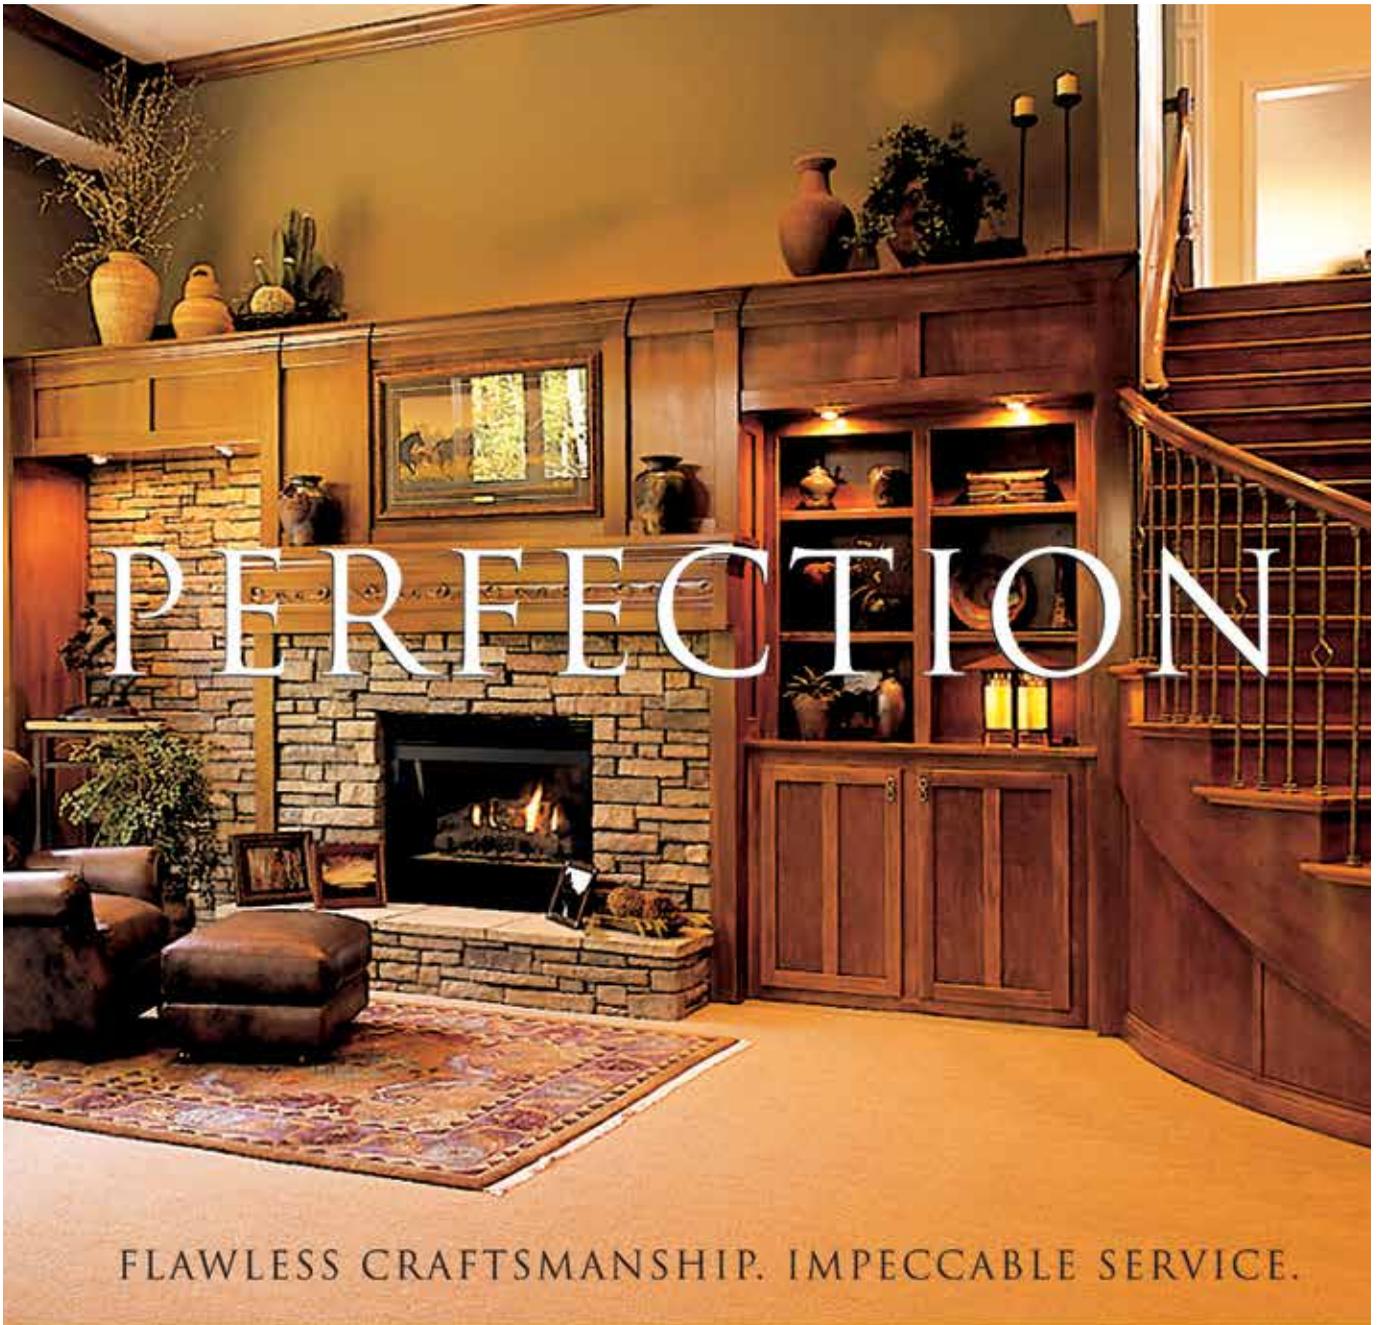

There is an iron fenced-in area with open access to the view corridor of the surrounding landscape with a pergola gateway and paved seating made from the latest, most contemporary materials.

“While sampling wine, we can discuss design ideas with Home Show attendees on the spot to help them make the outdoor living environment they always dreamed of a reality. We hope visitors will have a memorable experience in the Wine Garden and take that experience home with them,” Jacques said.

This year is Brower/Jacques Design’s 25th year in business. They pride themselves on creating a unique, one-of-a-kind atmosphere focusing on the experience of the garden. Don’t miss this feature at the Home Show!

“I can’t wait to see the look on people’s faces when they’re transported to this other world,” Jacques said. “I hope it makes them dream about unique design possibilities that are different than what’s typically represented in our region. I want them to get inspired by taking this mental trip to another country.”
