GUEST CELEBRITY

Nashville Flipping Experts: Q&A with Kortney Wilson of HGTV's "Music City Fix"

In HGTV's hit show Music City Fix, audiences get a behind-the-scenes look at the mess, stress, and magic involved during transformations brought to life by Kortney and Dave Wilson.

Kortney answered some questions to help us get to know her better with some fun facts, along with some home and decor tips. For even more helpful ideas, be sure to check out Kortney and Dave's new book, Live Happy. Follow them for all updates on Instagram, @allthingskortneywilson and @kortneyanddave.

1. If you had to move to another country, which would you pick and why?

I'm sort of in love with Italy right now. Dave and I visited this year and felt like we could live in Florence for a while. Not forever, but a year or two would be wonderful.

2. What's a common mistake homeowners make when they take on a home improvement project themselves?

Taking it on themselves—ha! Knowing when it is less expensive to hire someone. Often, it's less than fixing your own mistakes.

3. Fill in the blank:

The three things I can't live without are: Chapstick, my 'to-do' notebook and my iPhone.

4. What project have you been most proud to work on?

Any project where I am pushing the limits on color and ends up working out in a big way is a huge win. In the third season, we did a Victorian and layered on the color. Everyone resisted the entire flip, but it came together in the end and turned the eyes of everyone who was skeptical.

5. Where do you go online to find inspiration?

Pinterest is my go-to, but I screenshot things that come up on Instagram all the time.

6. What advice would you give to your 10-year-old self?

It's not going to go down exactly how you think, but everything will be okay. Roll with it.

7. Would you rather upgrade your closet, bathroom, or kitchen?

I'm in love with my walk-in closet, but it's been seven years since I have renovated our kitchen, and I'm getting a little antsy. It's not outdated, but when you are constantly renovating houses, your house seems like it's dating itself faster than it is.

8. What are your best outdoor decor tips?

I love a combo of hard and soft scapes. All too often, people don't give the exterior dimension. It's like mixing patterns to break things up inside. The outside needs various heights, colors, and textures to have great curb appeal. It takes some good planning. I'm not the best with outdoor plants and I know my limits, so I always consult a landscaper before buying a bunch of plants. I usually have our landscaper on Facetime in the summer.

9. Could you live in a tiny home?

For a week or two, but not forever. I could live in a really small place with a small bedroom, but I couldn't live with a really small bathroom. It's one of those amenities that I've gotten used to, and I need both a shower and a bathtub. I would love to scale down because I'm sort of a minimalist at heart and I hate clutter, but I like a spacious bathroom.

10. Which HGTV / DIY Network star would you most like to work with and why?

We are friends with Drew and Jonathan Scott, and we would love to work with them on a project. Or maybe do a house-off. Brothers versus K&D. ◆

Log Cabin Living

From beloved Lincoln Log toys to classic movies and modern TV shows, log cabins are without a doubt part of the American culture. What most Americans haven't experienced is owning a log cabin for themselves.

With European roots back to 3500 BC, log cabins have stuck around for a good reason, and they aren't going away anytime soon. Not just for far away mountainside dwellings, timeless log cabins can be incorporated into a variety of lifestyles.

This year at the Nashville Home + Remodeling Expo, log cabin builder, Hilltop Structures, along with Wilborn Landscape Construction, shows visitors how it's done the modern way.

With options ranging from smaller office spaces for the work-at-home business person and temporary homes for the in-laws, to large buildings for a home fit for a family, Amish-made log cabins have been skillfully crafted locally since 2009 by Hilltop Structures.

This family-run team offers a very hands-on approach to the entire process. Whether you are looking for guidance on design and foundation installation or want to have custom wood and siding options, the company's team assists with all aspects of the building process. On display at the expo, two fully-furnished cabins show the versatility and customization possibilities with Hilltop Structures.

To complete the look for the fully furnished log cabins, Winborn Landscape Construction of Franklin, Tennessee created an outdoor feel surrounding the structures, making them feel right at home here at the expo. The Winborn Landscape Construction team showcases its work in landscaping with live shrubbery, pines, and trees, as well outdoor construction, all tied together with a firepit installation and seating.

Whether you want to get a feel for the modern, yet timeless, rustic living that comes with a log cabin, or perhaps you've already decided it's your next home project, you need to check out the fully furnished and landscaped display right here at the Nashville Home + Remodeling Expo. ◆
